The background of the entire image is a textured, light-colored surface, possibly sand or a coarse fabric. Scattered across this surface are several bottles of Navas Premium Cornish Mixers and some glasses. One bottle is prominently featured in the center, lying horizontally. It has a clear body and a label with a colorful, abstract design in shades of blue, green, and pink. The label clearly shows the word 'NAVAS' in a bold, sans-serif font, with 'PREMIUM CORNISH MIXERS' written below it in a smaller font. To the right of this bottle, there is a glass filled with a yellowish-orange liquid. Another bottle with a similar label is visible in the upper right, and a glass with a red liquid is partially visible in the lower right. The lighting is bright, creating strong shadows and highlighting the textures of the bottles and the surface.

MONTEREY

Monterey Gin takes its inspiration from the Monterey pines that were planted in the 20/30s, and are synonymous with the Helford River. They make Monterey Gin right on the banks of the river in the shade of these majestic pines.

The team at Monterey wanted to create a great tasting gin by using a greater concentration of botanicals and an organic base best used in classic cocktails.

Tasting notes include juniper and coriander up front, warm cardamom and kaffir lime base notes with a bright sea buckthorn and citrus finish, tempered by maté and gentian root to give a smooth mouthfeel.

As a fully-independent, family run business, Southwestern Distillery like to celebrate the fact that they do things a little differently. Established in 2012 by founder and master distiller, Tarquin Leadbetter, Tarquin's Gin is Cornwall's first gin in over 100 years. Every single bottle has been filled, labelled, waxed, stamped and signed by hand. On the side of each bottle you'll see a batch number, signature and batch tasting notes. When they say: 'Handcrafted in Cornwall' – they really do mean it.

Nestled on the Cornish clifftops on the most southerly point of England, rests an award-winning family run craft distillery taking provenance and purity to another level.

The Curio small-batch distillery has created a range of award-winning artisan spirits that dares to be different, being inspired by fragrant botanicals and natural ingredients that reflect the culture and heritage of its Cornish roots.

Handcrafted in Mullion, Curio is the outcome of years of hard work, dedication, consultation and a love of the sublime.

Curio Blueberry and Lime Gin

This gin has taken its creativity from hand-picked blueberries from a former Cornish monastery to create a refreshing gin full of Cornish character. With a pleasing personality and depth of flavour designed to be sipped neat or enjoyed with tonic and summer fruits.

LOVEDAY GIN

The idea of working together to create a distillery had been brewing for some time, and as it happens, the upheaval of lockdown during the summer madness that was 2020 was just what needed to galvanise Daisy, Ruth and Chloe into action.

The goal? To create spirits with a meticulous eye on craftsmanship and flavour, inspired by the sea, landscape, vibrancy and history of their hometown of Falmouth.

They launched their first offering in April 2021: Loveday Falmouth Dry, a carefully crafted small batch gin, distilled with fresh samphire and fennel, to celebrate the coastline that's so integral to where they live and work. Delicate, distinct and savoury, best served with plenty of ice and a squeeze of orange.

Holly's Gin launched with a successful Crowdfunder campaign. Having worked for many years in the gin industry, Holly has had great support from across the UK and Europe. She grew up in Cornwall - therefore it was very important for her to create Holly's Gin in the county.

Inspired by her love of art deco and a London Dry, it took two years to create the final recipe. The gin is distilled in two 300 litre copper pot stills called Doris and Rose at Trevethan Distillery in Saltash, Cornwall.

There are nine botanicals, including orange, gentian root and passion flower. Delicate and delicious, this moreish gin makes the perfect G&T. The stunning bottle will certainly stand out in your collection too!

Launched in October 2019 and made in Cornwall naturally, Land of Saints uses pure Cornish water and is infused with 13 organic botanicals. It is an exceptionally smooth London Dry Gin with floral notes leading to a long citrusy finish, and is good to drink at anytime of the year.

It can also be said to tick all the boxes! Certified as 100% organic by The Soil Association, suitable for vegans and approved by ORB, The Organisation for Responsible Businesses. 50p from every bottle sold, as well as all surplus profits, go towards Fauna & Flora International, the world's oldest conservation organisation, to support their fight against climate change.

Lantic Gin is given its distinctive flavour by native herbs and botanicals foraged from the rugged coasts, meandering paths, and cliff top meadows. Each batch is hand crafted with passion and care to capture the seasonal scents and seaside character of Cornwall.

A multi award-winning gin that rekindles the most captivating coastal dreams, each bottle is meticulously hand crafted from a unique blend of nine carefully sourced botanicals chosen for their distinctive flavour, combined with six hand-foraged herbs and flowers – heather, rock samphire, gorse flower, apple mint, water mint and lemon thyme.

The result? A well balanced and exceptionally smooth contemporary gin that carries an abundance of coastal characteristics.

ROSEMULLION

Rosemullion is a family-run craft distillery set in the rural Cornish countryside. Creating artisan spirits including gin and rum, they are passionate about the quality, flavour and authenticity of their products.

All of their gin and rum is made in 100 bottle batches in a copper still, utilising Cornish rain water in the fermentation and distillation process.

The gins comprise around a dozen carefully selected botanicals including juniper, coriander, angelica root, liquorice and black pepper. These are complemented by the use of local Cornish ingredients including seasonal fruit and honey, sprinkled with some Cornish sunshine when available.

AGNES ARBER

On the 24th May 1948, Agnes Arber became the first woman to receive the gold medal of the Linnean Society, a world-famous institution dedicated to the study of natural history. Born in 1879, Arber achieved excellent academic results and soon became a historian of botany.

By the time of her death in 1960, Arber had published an extensive library of books on both botany and philosophy.

It is with appreciation of Arber's work that this gin has been produced – a convergence of nine botanicals distilled together. The savoury, earthy notes of juniper, coriander and angelica are complemented by the warm and spicy tones of cassia. Sweet, acidic flavours of lemon, orange and grapefruit combine with a twist of liquorice.

WRECKING COAST

Wrecking Coast was born out of a desire to drink a gin that suited their own tastes. A gin they could enjoy with friends and be proud to say: "We made that!"

Providing a luxurious feel that's smooth on the palate, they thought of the icon of Cornwall and how clotted cream could provide the answer.

Using cutting-edge still equipment and a hands-on approach, this unique process is focused around the detail of every element of their gin-making process.

It's the attention to small details that makes the big difference in the distinctive taste of Wrecking Coast Gin.

Salcombe Distilling Co. creates exceptional, hand-crafted gin with an uncompromising approach to quality.

Distilled and crafted in Devon, their multi-award winning Salcombe Gin 'Start Point' is a classic citrus led London dry that is exceptionally smooth, distinct and complex. Using the finest Macedonian juniper, English coriander seeds, fresh Mediterranean citrus peels and eight further hand sourced botanicals from around the world, it is then blended together with pure naturally soft Dartmoor water to create this perfectly balanced gin.

'Rosé Sainte Marie' is inspired by the aromas, flavours and lifestyle of the South of France. Rosé Sainte Marie has fragrant notes of fresh lemon peel and Provence herbs, complemented by the natural sweetness of red fruit and the distinctive perfume of white flowers.

Navas create mixers using a blend of distilled botanicals, natural plant extracts and 100% Cornish spring water.

Only using flavour with purpose, they carefully experiment with their recipes to develop mixers that are as considered as the spirit and work to bring out the best in the flavours of each.

For each bottle sold, Navas give 2% to support the Eden Project's environmental conservation objectives and they are also proud to be a part of 1% For The Planet.

THE CORNISH DISTILLING CO.

The Cornish Distilling Co. distill genuine British rum from scratch on site in their distillery in Bude, north Cornwall – from fermentation right the way through to bottling. Where as many other rum distilleries in the UK import rum and blend on site, The Cornish Distilling Co. are proud to start the process from the beginning in their distillery. By fermenting themselves, although time consuming, it allows the team to have more control over the flavour of their rums. They now have two spiced rums – a white rum and their rum-based coffee spirit, Kalkar.
